Roosevelt and Parker.

Why should Judge Parker be elected President of the United States? What has he done to entitle him to such distinction? His chief claim, of course, is that he was nominated by the Democratic party, but this does not imply any special merit of his own.

We are told that he was a good judge. This quality we do not deny; but there are many judges in the country of equal judicial eminence with Judge Parker, and some who overtop him in statesmanship, yet they were not nominated.

Judge Parker had not been conspicuous even in politics. His sole essay into this domain was as chairman of the Democratic executive committee, when Senator David Bennett Hill was elected governor of New York. He commended himself so well to Mr. Hill on that occasion that Mr. Hill rewarded him by a position as judge of the Court of Appeals, and now as candidate for President.

President Roosevelt's friends may invite a comparison of his busy and fruitful life with the uneventful and restful record of Judge Parker.—[Benjamin Truth.]

Parker Doomed to Defeat.

[New York Tribune.]

The Parker campaign has stirred no popular enthusiasm and awakened no real interest. In the light of the returns from Vermont and Oregon the Democratic national ticket is doomed to certain and crushing defeat.

The $2,750,000 tobacco crop grown on 8000 acres in the towns about Hartford, Conn., and the enormous potato yields in Aroostook county, Maine, dispel the idea that bonanza farming is an exclusive feature of the west, says the New England Farmer.

It is said that members of that mighty combination of capitalists, the Rothschilds, propose to spend 10,000,000 francs in the setting up in Paris of dwellings for wage earners, in which the rentals shall be extremely moderate and out of which the owners do not intend to make any profits.
